Chase and Trish want to take a cruise from Melbourne to Sydney, Australia.

"Our strategy is to have a joyous trip while we devote as much of it to the outdoors as possible," Trish exclaims.

At that hour, Trish did not have any idea that the plans they made would change drastically. Chase has a huge idea for the trip, but he, too, would come to see that this trip has problems.

As the ship left the port to sail east, Chase made plans to propose to Trish. Chase knew the yacht they took has lots of space to make a plan to relive for life. Unfortunately, the lunch they eat causes all plans to change and puts a cloud on the idea.

As the happy couple sits at the table with the white tablecloth for the fancy lunch, Trish and Chase chat with each other while they eat. Chase exclaims that the shiitake mushrooms he eats taste the best! Trish loves the squash and cheese recipe. They talk for a while and state that they will not forget this trip! What a true report that turns out to be.

With not more than a short pause, Chase exits the room as fast as he can. With hand on top of mouth, he takes a detour by the couch and chair of the lounge next to the closest bathroom! While she waits and looks at the lavish lunch, Trish worries that they have a huge problem!

As he returns, Chase tells Trish he is quite ill (he hopes it isn't lethal!), and he has to go to the room. Why did he have to get so sick? And on the delicious shiitake mushroom dish to boot! All he can do is stay close to the bathroom and trust it will stop fast. He isn't sure whether he will propose or not! He doubts it! He is just so sick!

"My whole body aches," Chase tells Trish.

So he doesn't dehydrate and to stop the thirst, Chase takes the sips of broth Trish provides. She proves that she will stick by him if he is sick or well. As he sits on the floor of that bathroom, Chase decides to ask for Trish's hand. What a catch she is; he is not worthy of the love she gives! It isn't the romantic proposal he wants, but he gives thanks for Trish. He feels he has no choice. He gives a toothy smile and a small flourish of hand, and he hopes they will chuckle as they recall this proposal at a future date!
